THE INSPIRATION

Blackpitts is located in the historic Liberties area of Dublin City just behind the new Teeling Whiskey Distillery in Newmarket. Blackpitts, like many areas in the Liberties is steeped in manufacturing tradition and in particular was home to an abundance of malting houses, it provides the inspiration for the Teeling Blackpitts Peated Single Malt.

THE DISTILLATION

Dublin Distilleries were famous for using three pot stills to create the taste profile that made Dublin and Irish Whiskey famous around the world. In our new distillery we have honoured this tradition and triple distil our Teeling Whiskey.

The norm for Peated Single Malt is to double distil, which is the tradition in Scotland. Our production method creates a unique “Islay meets Ireland” style expression. The extra distillation removes some of the medicinal taste characteristics, however the near barbeque smoke profile is maintained despite the smooth and drinkable nature of the base spirit.

THE WHISKEY

This unique bottling of Peated Single Malt whiskey was triple distilled in the Teeling Whiskey Distillery in Dublin and matured in a combination of ex-Sauternes and ex-Bourbon casks before being bottled at 46% with no chill filtration. This creates a truly unique taste of savoury BBQ smoke accompanied by grilled pineapple and salted caramel sweetness, creating an unconventional Irish whiskey of true character.

THE MALT

The use of peat in the malting process pre-dates modern Irish whiskey manufacturing but was widely used before the introduction of coal. For our Blackpitts we wanted to revive the use of peat, or turf, in the drying of the malted barley to produce its distinctive taste profile.

Our peated malt is relatively heavily peated with a pre-distillation parts per million (ppm) of 55 to ensure, even though we triple distil, the distinctive smoky character created by this process is maintained.

THE CASKS

While choosing the casks to use for our Blackpitts we examined our existing inventory and what has worked for us previously for Peated Single Malt. Our award winning 24 Year Old Single Malt which was honoured as the “World’s Best Single Malt” provided this inspiration, as well as the use of both Bourbon Casks and Sauternes Wine Casks. The Bourbon Cask maturation allows the underlying smoke and barley to evolve while the use of Sauternes brings in deep fruit flavours which perfectly complement each other.
